Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing in regards to a possible full-time or free-lance position within your art and animation department. My extensive experience in numerous aspects of the art and animation production field make me a strong candidate for a position in design, direction, and animation production.

Throughout my career, I have worked in the development of a variety of interactive, presentational, and broadcast video projects for instructional, marketing and entertainment purposes. My responsibilities and duties throughout all phases of the development cycle have included production and coordination of all visual communication activities with other team members, as well as clients.

As a liaison for a graphics team, I offer experience in creative and technical direction, project management and all phases of production. Through my work experience, I have acquired knowledge and skills in the areas of graphic design, illustration, video production, video editing and various styles of 2D motion graphics and 3D animation.

Please see my demo reel at www.seandeegan.com for design and animation samples.

I would welcome the chance to discuss current opportunities within your company. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Sean Deegan
